

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

MONDAY EVE., MARCH 24, 1884.

Omni has twenty-five thousand colored voters.

The cattle disease in Illinois is termed foot-rot.

The Mississippi Valley Sanitary Council is in session at Memphis.

JUDGE THATCHER, of the Colorado Supreme court, died on Saturday.

Born Houses have passed the military academy appropriation bill for $314,576.

The Virginia Democrats will hold their State convention at Richmond, May 14th.

In the United States last week there were one hundred and seventy-six business failures.

The Big Sandy is again out of its banks and heavy losses among the timber men are reported.

SENATOR PLUMB, of Kansas, has expressed the opinion that Federal aid to education will destroy the present school system.

The Democrats of the House of Representatives meet in caucus, to-morrow, for the purpose of considering the Morrison tariff bill.

The post-offices in the United States on the first of last July numbered 48,993, and by next July the number is expected to reach 50,000.

GEORGE T. GARRISON, the legally elected Representative of the First Virginia district has been given his seat in Congress which has heretofore been occupied by Robert M. Mayo.

This sub-committee on elections will report in favor of seating Mr. McKinley, Republican in Congress, as representative of District 13, Ohio, as against J. H. Wallace, Democrat, the other contestant, by Robert M. Mayo.

REV. N. M. LONG, of Memphis, has created a sensation in that city by declaring that Sunday laws are unconstitutional; that they are a positive burden on one class of people and an outrage upon the rights of citizens.

The Cincinnati Evening Post explains it satisfactorily: Foot and mouth disease is the fashionable complaint convention days. It attacks the mouth early in the day, but does not affect the feet, until well on toward evening.

HON. R. M. T. HUNTER, ex-Secretary of State of the Southern Confederacy, and ex-United States Senator, and who for the past fifty-one years has been prominent in Virginia politics, is dying at his home in Essex County. He was a classmate of Edgar A. Poe, the poet, at the University of Virginia.

Fashion Notes.

High shouldered capes of white lace or of embroidered muslin are never worn for wearing with home dresses of satin, silk, etc.

Ivory-color silk pongee, and muslin velveteen, embroidered in many colors in South Kensington designs, and in antique tapestry figures, are among the new spring goods.

Flowers are once more worn in the hair. The flower small wreath is worn around the crown of the head, and the slender filaments of an aigrette spring upward in the centre.

A group of tiny red birds is placed just inside the brim of a red velvet bonnet, which is trimmings or lace covered or feathered cloth to match the Newmarket, or the alligator jacket, with a bunch of quills for ornament.

New bonnets that look wintery, yet have a dash of spring about them, are made of silk embroidered or puffed out gold clover crevices, and the lace is made up of two small dresses, thickly set without foliage, such as forget-me-nots, daisies or mimosa.

Gold bonnets tied in loops or arranged in sets of loops to form a rosette from which rises a crease plaited is added to dark velvet, and the flowers freshen them to spring. New black hats however have much gold trimming and may be lined with gold cloth.

Embroidery plays a prominent part in spring dresses, stiffs or thick, or light. Dark dresses are made of cloth and are embroidered on buckram and draped of wool dresses. Gilt and silver embroidery is limited to scarlet, brown, rose and white worn for ball dresses.

Black lace aprons over gold or red stuff are a new English fashion. Many fastened by small clasps at the waist, and they are made of many ruffles of lace attached to the dress waist by bantam gold pins. For simpler aprons Madras lace, flowered cotton and "Serey" canes are used with linen braid lace for trimming.

The best effect of princess dresses is given to rich toilets by the prevailing mode of hooking a full train above the edge of a plain painted corset. The front of the dress is to be covered by lace flounces, or bag puffs, panels, or a draped tablier. Small paniers across the top of the skirt are retained by ladies who have too long waists and need fulness around the hips.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The latest English sporting novelty is an Arab race at Newmarket, for which three or four horses are on their way from India.

MINISTER SARGENT'S invitation to a service on the Emperor's birthday does not mean anything beyond inevitable politeness will be granted.

The Buddhist craze has spread from London to Paris. There are now 300 Buddhists there, and probably their demand for a temple will be granted.

A DISPATCH from Ceylon says that the snow has ceased and that it is clear and warm. The danger of a blockade is now considered.

JAMES C. FISHER, the wealthiest gambler in San Antonio, Tex., the man who killed Ben Thompson and King Fisher March 11th, has died. He leaves a large estate valued between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000.

DR. BROWN is writing a history of his Socialist life. There have been fierce party scenes. The Socialist leader declares that there were private detectives in the reporters' gallery and the bill is in serious danger.

A RUSHING London trahesman has asked through the papers for twenty baird-headed men willing to have an advertisement of a patent medicine burned on the back of their hands. Meantime a bill is brought into Parliament to render the sale of patent medicines illegal.

A SARDINE London writer has brought out a book called "The Wife-Beaters" and is giving a short list of the most notorious men who were in England. The book is intended to help Baron de Worms, a legislator who proposes a bill forbidding fogging on wife beaters.

Mr. BROWN, a Socialist in "England" has had a great success. His notes were so like echo of the flute which accompanied her that it was sometimes hard to distinguish the sound from the instrument. A book is complete but enormous, but was badly done.

Two special war correspondents are reporting great honors from the Egyptian campaign. A correspondent of the Times wrote: "I am sure that the sound of a man's voice will be distinguished from the instrument. A book is complete but enormous, but was badly done.

BOOKS AND POLITICS.

The Literary Fever and General Grant's Free Talk.

Logan and Sheridan So Write War Memoirs — Remarkably Pointed Political Language of General Grant — Its Effect.

Washington, March 29.—General Logan is going to write a book. He has planned for a number of years the writing of his recollections of the war and he intends within a short period to begin this work. It will have no reference to the political history of the time, but will be confined entirely to a recital of the General's connection with the war of the rebellion of the Union. General Sherman's memoirs, General Meade's, and others are upon his committee of the war. It is probable that he will issue a book within the coming year. The works projected by Messrs. Doubleday & Cox have been well received and stimulate high ambition in Congressional circles. The reports of Mr. Blaine's financial success in his literary venture have had the effect to further increase literary ambition among Congressmen.

The interview with General Grant just printed has made a marked sensation in political circles and was the topic of the day in Washington. It was a frank and frank interview, and talks for publication so pointedly and freely as Grant has done. His talk has put an end to all speculation about his position, and has made effectually a stop to all stories of Grant going into politics. Blaine's combinations and Blaine's friends are all very mad at Grant's plain talk, while the friends of John Sherman are furious at the way in which Grant has spoken and given expression to him. Grant has talked with his friends in even plainer language than is used in the interview. He said the other day, in talking about Arthur, that he would not support him if he were nominated.

MRS. WUEGER'S PISTOL.

Did She Hide the Body of Her Dead Child Before She Shot Herself?

New York, March 24.—Mrs. Mary Wueger, who shot herself on Wednesday afternoon, has been buried in a grave in Cypress Hills Cemetery, with a very simple and plain inscription. The police have not succeeded in finding the pistol.

"I understand Mrs. Kessner of 293 Prospect street, this city, that she got the pistol from a man named Von Bern, with whom she became acquainted while living at 124 Clinton street. She lived there for two months, but she was not aware she often threatened to kill herself. She then came to my house; this was about two months ago. While she was with me she was always dependent. When I spoke of her going to her husband, I was sure she did not become a mother within the four months I have known her. The child she refers to must be one that made trouble between herself and her husband."

"There should have been two packages of cards found at the grave," said a friend of Mrs. Wueger yesterday. "She was always playing with them, filling them with the names of her own fortune teller and bad one."

The police of New Lots say they are positive that she did not have the body of a dead child with her. Hersons, Houry and Clark, aged sixty and fourteen years, say they found nothing of her child when she came in the time she went away from Woodhaven until they were notified that she had died herself on their father's grave. Mrs. Wueger is conscious, but persists in maintaining silence. She says only: "I did it myself."

GLADSTONE'S ILLNESS.

His Condition Improved, but Still Alarming.

London, March 22.—Gladstone has been very ill the last week. His recovery is slower than anybody expected. The weakness of his throat and the loss of his voice were so complete that he could not attend even a Cabinet council in his own house, and had to refer the interests of the country to his inability to do anything is a very bad sign, as he is a very great glutton for occupation at all times, and he is completely satisfied that the Government machinery that saves a day's idleness puts the whole Empire out of gear. Yet, though there is so much cause for alarm, the air is a good deal from existing rumors that Gladstone is sick again. Things, though in a state of disorganization all around, have fallen into a certain humdrum. Parliament continues to be the sworn of everybody. Appropriations still consume most of the time, and the rest is trattered away by questions and filibuster ing.

SITUATION IN EGYPT.

Things Mixed Up, and General Graham Loading.

London, March 24.—The news from Egypt is still delusive. General Gouraud is known to have General Graham detailed to know what to do. He is loosing about Suakin. The feverish suspense about the fate of the English has been news from the Times correspondent that he received a garrison to the north of Khar-toum, but the same correspondent reports 4,000 Arabs blockading the town, and everybody is daily awaiting the results. The future of Gordon is still unknown, but it is very certain as the Government cannot make up its mind whether to desert him or to send him to the front. It is too afraid of the anti-slavery party at home to follow his advice and give him Zulzahr Pasha, who would be the most effectual pacifier.

Little Rhody's Legislature.

Newport, R. I., March 24.—The bill was introduced in the Senate to prohibit the sale of offenses of wife-beaters with private flagging and ten to thirty blows. The bill calling a constitutional convention was voted down by a large majority. By this vote the woman suffragists and anti-property qualification people received a severe blow.
